

Weather Preparations

Hello! As the year moves along, so do the seasons. It is always advised to be prepared for situations that might arise due to extreme weather, natural disasters, or other events. Also, please remember that there is a chance that the heat for a building could go out. We will have it fixed ASAP but having supplies for such an event could make the difference between a miserable day and just another day. Some of the suggested items to keep around for such events are:

- Personal heater
- Snow shovel
- De-icing compound
- Water
- Food that doesn't require heating or refrigeration
- Flashlights and batteries
- Battery powered clock
- Charged cell phone
- 4-day supply of prescription medicines
- Blanket and cold weather clothing for each family member
- Pet food and additional water for your pets
- First-aid kit

And please remember not to leave your windows or sliding glass door open during extremely cold temperature periods, as doing this can freeze and/or burst your pipes. If you decide to leave for a period of time, please do not turn off your thermostat. Keep it at a minimum of 65°F.
